The Northern Island

This island offers a splendid view of Koh Tao's northernmost tip. All cottages here are well hidden with and private - offering you privacy and seclusion. The accommodation here is not well suited for families with smaller children or travellers with difficulty walking. All cottages here are fan cooled.

Not suitable for children younger than 8 years*

The Middle Island

The Middle island is an excellent choice for families with younger children or travellers with trouble getting around. It is mostly sea level and it is also where the restaurant and reception is located. It does not offer the same spectacular views that the other two islands offer but you are right by the beach and all cottages enjoy sea view and airconditioning.

Suitable for all travellers*

The Southern Island

The Southern Island offers the resort's most luxurious accommodation and the most spectacular views. On top of the island you will also find the famous view point, where most post card pictures of Koh Nang Yuan have been taken. Please bear in mind that having a magnificent sea view does require some walking - but it is truly worth it.

Not suitable for children younger than 10 years*

*Recommendations only: we do not know the maturity of your children!

When to come

The resort is open all year but please be aware that during the monsoon boats might not run as regularly as in high season. The best months to come is from January to October. Late November and early December are often wet but offer more privacy and seclusion.

Preserve Nang Yuan

We respectfully request that you do not pick up any coral or conch shells.

We respectfully request that you respect the Thai Culture and refrain from topless sun bathing on the beaches and that you dress appropriately when dining in the restaurant.

We respectfully request that you do not bring any plastic bottles to our beautiful island.
